UNIDO (United Nation Investment & Technology Promotion Office Kingdom of Bahrain) organizes bilateral meetings at GIX

UNIDO, the United Nations' specialized industrial agency, will organize the bilateral meetings that will be held during the conference, which will take place as part of GIX activities; the purpose of these meetings is to join participating companies' representatives with governmental officials and VIPs from international organizations, as part of the effort to enhance and promote business relations between the two parties, and open the doors to wide investment opportunities for companies concerned in building a solid commercial base in Iraq.

UNIDO is mandated to promote industrial development and international industrial cooperation. It can offer valuable lessons and models for increased system-wide coherence and cost efficiency.
